The defense ministry of Azerbaijan has been accusing Armenian armed forces of violating the ceasefire for the past five days. Yerevan has scoffed at Bakus accusations, saying that Armenias proposal to create a joint mechanism to monitor such violations continues to remain on the table.

Baku on Monday accused Armenias Armed Forces of shooting at Azerbaijani positions in Nakhichevan. Armenias Defense Ministry denied the accusation, calling it part of the misinformation campaign being carried out by Baku.

Earlier this spring, amid similar accusations by Baku, Prime Minister Nikol Pashinyans office proposed the creation of bilateral mechanisms to monitor ceasefire violations. Baku has not responded to this proposal.
