The French Jewish Defense League (LDJ), in its analytical report, stated that France has positioned itself as a "guardian" of Armenia for centuries.

However, after Armenian leaders signed a peace agreement with Azerbaijan aimed at ending centuries-old hostility, Paris and Tehran began supplying arms to Armenia, according to the Azerbaijani news site Minval.az.

As noted by LDJ, these actions may be aimed at undermining the peace process, as France and Iran seem compelled to support the conflict to strengthen their influence in the region.
