Eurasia Daily (23 January 2025)

Armenian Foreign Minister Ararat Mirzoyan said in Moscow that his current trip had been preparing for three months, but was postponed for technical reasons. We believe that among the "technical reasons", the US elections also played a significant role. At first, Yerevan waited, counting on the victory of the Democrats, and then □ in order to find out how to position itself under the new administration, the Voice of Armenia publication claims.

As a result, we came to the conclusion that it's time to remember about the strategic alliance with Russia not only in the economic sphere. Following the statements of Defense Minister Suren Papikyan in Yerevan, Ararat Mirzoyan in Moscow also spoke about close bilateral relations, bilateral agreements, including in the military sphere, which was also confirmed by Sergey Lavrov.
