

BRUSSELS LOWERS ITS EXPECTATIONS FOR KEIR STARMER'S BREXIT RESET

-

03.02.2025

Politico (3 February 2025)

By Jon Stone, Dan Bloom and Sam Blewett

Brussels had high expectations for Keir Starmer's Brexit reset. Now it's adjusted them — downward.

Six months of red lines and rejection have dashed hopes that the new U.K. prime minister really wants to walk back the more extreme elements of the Tory Brexit settlement.

While officials and diplomats still believe improvements to the cross-channel relationship are possible, nobody expects them to be game-changers. All expect them to take time.

Click for more

Kaynak/Source: