The former chief minister of Indian-administered Kashmir on Friday urged Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi's allies to use their influence in parliament to oppose the amended law on Muslim endowments, or Waqf.

Mehbooba Mufti, the People's Democratic Party (PDP) chief and former chief minister, wrote letters to Nitish Kumar, the chief minister of eastern Bihar state, and Nara Chandrababu Naidu, the chief minister of southern Andhra Pradesh.

Kumar and Naidu support Modi's Bhartiya Janata Party (BJP)-led National Democratic Alliance, which has a parliamentary majority.
