As for the specific rapprochement of Armenia with the European Union (EU), we have clearly stated both publicly and during the dialogue with our Armenian friends that simultaneous membership in the Eurasian Economic Union (EAEU) and the European Union is impossible, since they are two incompatible regulatory systems with different approaches to customs standards, technical, sanitary and phytosanitary standards, marking of goods [] even labeling of goods. This was stated by Russian deputy foreign minister Mikhail Galuzin in an interview with Izvestia.

According to Galuzin, the aforesaid are two completely different systems, and therefore being in them simultaneously is simply impossible.
