ARMENIA-TURKEY BORDER 'MARGARA' CHECKPOINT NOW OPERATED SOLELY BY ARMENIAN BORDER GUARDS

MassisPost (1 March 2025)

As of February 28, border control at the Armenia-Turkey Margara checkpoint is being carried out exclusively by Armenian border guards, according to the Prime Minister.

The Margara checkpoint has remained non-operational due to the closed state of the Armenia-Turkey border. In the summer of 2022, the Armenian government undertook a complete renovation of the checkpoint, after which it was staffed by Russian border guards for continuous service.

I express my gratitude to the Russian Federal Security Service Border Troops for their service in this section of the Armenia-Turkey border, Prime Minister Nikol Pashinyan stated on social media.
