Several Security Council members including China and Russia denounce US for halting resolution backed by 14 of 15 members

Slovenia, which led a UN Security Council push for an immediate ceasefire in Gaza, said "enough is enough" after the US vetoed the resolution Wednesday, blocking action backed by 14 of the Council's 15 members.

"It was never our intention to provoke a veto," Slovenia's UN envoy Samuel Zbogar said after the vote, after his country introduced the draft resolution on behalf of the 10 elected members (E10) of the Council.
