Reuters (10 September 2025)

Poland shot down drones that entered its airspace on Wednesday, the first time a member of NATO is known to have fired shots during Russia's war in Ukraine.

Here are some reactions to the situation from some leading politicians and officials.

Polish Prime Minister Donald Tusk

"We are dealing with a large-scale provocation... We are ready to repel such provocations. The situation is serious, and no-one doubts that we must prepare for various scenarios."
