Vazrazhdane leader Kostadin Kostadinov called for the Government to resign at a protest organised by the party in Sofia on Saturday. "The message is one □ resignation. Resignation of this Government, so that we can save Bulgaria, so that we can save the Bulgarian lev," Kostadinov told journalists at the protest in front of the Bulgarian National Bank building.

Vazrazhdane also held protests in Shumen, Pleven, Varna, Veliko Tarnovo and Ruse.

According to him, the eurozone is collapsing. "France, the second-largest economy, is technically bankrupt. Germany is in recession, and Italy is experiencing both stagnation and inflation. The first, second, and third-largest economies in the eurozone are currently collapsing before our eyes. We are boarding the Titanic," he argued.
