Pakistan's Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif arrived in the Malaysian capital Kuala Lumpur on a three-day official visit on Sunday, a statement from his office said.

Sharif was received by Communications Minister Fahmi Fadzil at the Kuala Lumpur International Airport. He was escorted to his residence, where he was welcomed by his Malaysian counterpart Anwar Ibrahim.

The two leaders will hold talks and are also expected to witness the signing of agreements on trade, information technology, telecommunication, energy, infrastructure and digital economy.
