In 2023 100 Armenia signed contracts with France for the supply of weapons totalling more than 100 million, RFE/RL reports, citing a French Ministry of Armed Forces report submitted to Parliament.

The document states that, as part of diversifying defence cooperation, Armenia decided to turn to France to strengthen its military capabilities and ensure the security of its population. The export of new equipment, the holding of military exercises, and joint operations are exclusively defensive in nature. The establishment of a French defense mission in Yerevan in 2023 allows for establishing closer ties with Armenian partners and for determining the best formats of cooperation, the report says.

Until 2022, France had practically no arms deliveries to Armenia; however, in 2023 100 numerous contracts were signed to equip the Armenian ground forces. Several joint projects in Armenias defence industry are also under discussion.
