CHINESE, VIETNAMESE NAVIES TO HOLD JOINT PATROL IN BEIBU GULF

18.11.2025

Anadolu Agency (18 November 2025)

China's Defense Ministry on Tuesday said that Chinese and Vietnamese navies will conduct a two-day joint patrol in the Beibu Gulf.

A vessel formation from the Chinese and Vietnamese navies will carry out their 39th joint patrol in the Beibu Gulf from Wednesday to Thursday, state-run Global Times reported, citing a ministry statement.

Beibu Gulf, also known as the Gulf of Tonkin, is a semi-enclosed section of the South China Sea, bordering Vietnam and China.
