Tajikistan and Türkiye laid their cards on the table, mapping out future plans to bolster their bilateral ties, with an eye on economic and sectoral cooperation, Trend reports via the Tajik president's office.

Discussions were held during a meeting between President of Tajikistan Emomali Rahmon and Numan Kurtulmuş, Speaker of Türkiye's Grand National Assembly.

The parties discussed expanding trade and investment, highlighting plans to increase collaboration in key areas such as the textile industry, aluminum processing, and the creation of joint production ventures. They identified the development of projects using local Tajik raw materials as a major opportunity.
