Armenia and the EU are set to adopt a new strategic partnership agenda during the 6th meeting of the Armenia EU Partnership Council on December 2 in Brussels, European Commissioner for Enlargement Marta Kos told reporters.

The new partnership agenda will be signed by Armenian Foreign Minister Ararat Mirzoyan and EU High Representative for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy Kaja Kallas.

Tomorrow we have the EU-Armenia Partnership Council where we will adopt a new strategic agenda for the EU-Armenia partnership. So it will be a kind of action plan, a roadmap of what we can do, Kos told visiting Armenian reporters in Brussels on Monday.
