Uzbekistan and Kyrgyzstan are deepening their energy partnership as work on the Kambarata-1 Hydropower Plant (HPP), one of Central Asia's largest infrastructure projects, continues to advance.

Uzbek President Shavkat Mirziyoyev met with Kyrgyz Energy Minister Taalaibek Ibrayev in Tashkent to discuss regional energy cooperation, according to Kyrgyz news agency 24.kg, citing the Kyrgyz Ministry of Energy.

The meeting focused on enhancing strategic ties, particularly in the hydropower sector. Both sides highlighted the growing momentum in bilateral relations and reaffirmed their commitment to joint regional energy initiatives.
