President of Azerbaijan Ilham Aliyev said that Azerbaijan will never become an arena of geopolitical confrontation and will instead remain a space for cooperation, as he received a delegation of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce led by Senior Vice President Khush Choksi.

President of Azerbaijan Ilham Aliyev said that Azerbaijan will never become an arena of geopolitical confrontation and will instead remain a space for cooperation, as he received a delegation of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce led by Senior Vice President Khush Choksi. The remarks were reported by Azerbaijani and international English-language outlets covering the meeting.

Aliyev noted that despite complicated relations between some of Azerbaijans partner countries, Baku pursues a foreign policy based on openness and pragmatic cooperation. The visit of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce delegation took place on the eve of the expected visit of the U.S. Vice President, which, according to observers, signals a new phase in Azerbaijan-U.S. relations.
