OSCE (Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe) Secretary General Feridun Hadi Sinirlioglu will visit Kyrgyzstan on March 24-25 for a working visit, Trend reports, citing the Kyrgyz MFA.

During his stay, Sinirlioglu is scheduled to meet with senior Kyrgyz officials, including Foreign Minister Jeenbek Kulubayev, to discuss the current state and future prospects of cooperation between Kyrgyzstan and the OSCE across political-military, economic-environmental, and humanitarian dimensions.

The talks are also expected to cover regional developments, including Central Asian integration initiatives, contemporary security challenges, and potential areas for further collaboration within the OSCE framework.
