
THAILAND URGES REMOTE WORK AS S.KOREA TURNS TO RED SEA ROUTE AMID ENERGY STRAIN

-

07.04.2026

Anadolu Agency (6 April 2026)

Saadet Gokce

Thailand on Monday urged people to work from home, while South Korea moved to secure alternative energy routes via the Red Sea as supplies come under strain.

Thai Prime Minister Anutin Charnvirakul called for measures including remote work, reduced private car use, and greater reliance on public transportation, carpooling, and energy conservation, according to a statement on his account on US social media company Facebook.

He added that additional measures could be introduced in the near term if needed.

Click for more

Kaynak/Source: