A senior member of the far-right Patriots for Europe in the European Parliament could face an anti-fraud investigation over allegations of millions of misspent EU funds.

On Friday (24 April), the Brussels-based office of Transparency International campaign group submitted a complaint to the EUs anti-fraud office, Olaf.

They want an investigation into Philip Claeys over allegations some were misspent during his time as secretary general of the hard-right Identity and Democracy (ID) group, which dissolved in 2024 before morphing into the more powerful and larger Patriots.
