
GERMANY IS FREEZING TRAIN FARES TO TACKLE HORMUZ OIL CRISIS □ WHY CAN'T THE REST OF EUROPE?

-

30.04.2026

EU Observer (30 April 2026)

Victor Thévenet

This month, Deutsche Bahn announced a freeze on long-distance rail ticket prices in Germany for one full year - until April 2027 - to help consumers cope with rising fuel prices

This is a very wise short-term answer to prevent citizens from bearing the consequences of the oil crisis in their travel budgets.

The EU average price for petrol (Euro-super 95) rose from □□□□ to □□□□ per litre from February to April 2026 - a 12 percent increase.

Click for more

Kaynak/Source: