Chinese President Xi Jinping said Tuesday that China is seeking stronger ties with the European Union and hopes Slovakia will play a constructive role in promoting the stable and healthy development of relations between China and the EU.

Speaking during talks with Slovak President Peter Pellegrini in Beijing, Xi said China has always viewed the EU as a partner and is committed to developing ties with the bloc with "sincerity and goodwill," according to the state-run Xinhua News Agency.

The remarks came as Pellegrini is paying a state visit to China, with the two leaders discussing bilateral relations and broader cooperation between China and Europe.
