
RUBIO AND KOSHERBAYEV DISCUSS CPC AHEAD OF TOKAYEV'S U.S. VISIT

- 30.07.2026

The Times of Central Asia (30 July 2026)

U.S. Secretary of State Marco Rubio held a telephone conversation with Kazakhstans Foreign Minister Yermek Kosherbayev on 29 July. The discussion focused on the situation surrounding the Caspian Pipeline Consortium, energy cooperation, critical minerals, trade and investment ties, and current international issues.

According to the U.S. Department of State, Rubio and Kosherbayev discussed the importance of energy security, including the reliable and uninterrupted export of Kazakhstan-origin oil through the CPC system. Rubio also thanked Kazakhstan for supporting President Donald Trumps peace initiatives and expressed interest in deepening bilateral economic cooperation.
