Ruben Rubinyan, candidate for Speaker of the National Assembly, has expressed confidence that the full normalisation of relations between Armenia and Türkiye is only a matter of time and is now very close.

Rubinyan made the remarks during the inaugural session of the ninth-convocation National Assembly in response to a question from Gegham Manukyan, a lawmaker from the Armenia faction.

Manukyan said the Armenia-Türkiye normalisation process had initially been presented as negotiations without preconditions but argued that Türkiye continued to link the process to Armenia-Azerbaijan relations.
