Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov has commented on Armenias plans to seek membership in the European Union.

"Regarding the application for EU membership, I always recommend remembering the experience of Türkiye and a number of other countries. Decades have passed since they submitted their applications, yet the situation remains largely unchanged," Peskov said.

The Kremlin representative added that this was precisely why the latest Eurasian Economic Union (EAEU) summit adopted a statement calling on Armenia to hold the relevant referendum as soon as possible.
