Georgia is experiencing the effects of Russia's soft power through the presence of pro-Russian organizations, media outlets, and parties that assert closer ties to Moscow will settle disagreements between the two countries.

Recent polls have indicated that a significant segment of Georgian society is still holding onto elements of the country's Soviet heritage, making them targets of Russian hybrid warfare.

The outcome of the war in Ukraine will determine Moscow's ability to influence Tbilisi despite ambivalent attitudes in Georgian society toward Russia.
