The conflict between Karol Nawrocki and Donald Tusk could sour the country on staying in the EU.

Poland's MAGA-aligned President Karol Nawrocki is in a war for control of the country with pro-EU Prime Minister Donald Tusk.

The sharp end of the conflict concerns the European Unions 100 billion Security Action For Europe program – an EU effort (in part negotiated by the Polish government) to provide cheap loans to finance arms purchases by member countries. Nawrocki last week vetoed a law enabling the allocation of a 100 billion loan to Poland, although the government insists it will still be able to get the cash.
