The EU Parliament could assess the European Public Prosecutor's Office's investigation into an alleged organised fraud scheme involving agricultural funds and corruption.

A scandal involving Greek use of EU agricultural funds is set to play a role in the EU Parliaments discharge of the Commission budget later this year, the co-chair of the European Parliaments Intergroup on Anti-Corruption has told Euronews.

German Green MEP Daniel Freund was commenting on the "fake farmer" fraud scandal, a sprawling case that has triggered political turmoil in Greece and raised questions over the management of EU agricultural subsidies.
